2. Some people are looking for a new home. There are four house adverts in a local newspaper this week.

Read the adverts and answer the questions below.

> A — Bungalow for sale
>
> This bungalow is on a quiet street near the river. All the rooms are on one floor, so there are no stairs. It has two bedrooms, a bathroom, a sitting room and a bright kitchen with a big cooker. Behind the house, there is a small garden with space for vegetables.
> B — Cottage for rent
> This old stone cottage is in a small village, forty minutes from the town centre by bus. In the sitting room, there are two comfortable armchairs next to a fireplace. The three bedrooms are upstairs. At the front of the cottage, there is a big garden with fruit trees.

I am a tenth-grade student at a vocational and technical upper secondary school in İzmir. I chose this school because I want to become an electrician. In the mornings, we usually have regular lessons such as maths, English and literature. Three afternoons a week, we work in the electrics workshop. We wear safety glasses there, and we build simple circuits for lamps and doorbells.

After classes, I play in the school table tennis team. We train on Tuesdays and Fridays in the sports hall. During lunch breaks, I help in the school library, so I rarely have free time.

Written tests don't worry me, but practical exams in the workshop make me anxious. In these exams, a teacher watches every step, and we have only forty minutes. Before these exams, my hands sometimes shake, and in the exam I forget small steps. My workshop teacher gave me some useful advice: write a checklist of every step and practise it slowly at home with a small circuit kit. Now, when I hold the list in the exam, my hands are calm. I always know the next step.

I'm not a fast worker, but I never give up. When a circuit doesn't work, I check every wire again and again, slowly, until the lamp lights up.

This month, our class is busy with a special day: 24 November, Teachers' Day. Right now, we are making small desk lamps in the workshop. On Teachers' Day, we are going to give them to our teachers with thank-you cards.

3.1. Write T (True) or F (False). Correct the false sentences. (5x2=10 pts)

a. Kemal has regular lessons in the mornings.

b. Kemal works in the electrics workshop every afternoon.

c. Kemal feels anxious before written tests.

d. Kemal's table tennis team trains twice a week.

e. Kemal and his classmates are buying presents for their teachers.

3.4. Read the fourth paragraph again. Which personal quality does Kemal show? Write one adjective and one reason from the text. (3 pts)

4. Read the style card from a school fashion club. Use the context to work out the meanings of the highlighted words. Then write the highlighted word that matches each definition in the table. Two highlighted words are extra. (6x2=12 pts)

> FASHION CLUB — STYLE CARD OF THE WEEK
>
> This week's style card is about Sara from 10-A. Sara has long dark hair and thick eyebrows, so her face looks strong and friendly. Today she is wearing a white cotton shirt. It is soft and light, so it is perfect for warm days. Her skirt is checked, with small red and blue squares all over it. Around her waist, she has a brown belt made of leather.
> Sara loves small accessories. Around her neck, there is a thin silver necklace, and on her wrist, she has a colourful bracelet from her best friend. She also carries a vintage bag; it is her aunt's old bag from the 1980s, and it still looks lovely. Sara's clothes are never messy, and her hair is always tidy. She looks neat every day!

6. Your school is preparing a Well-Being Board. Read Irmak's post below as a model. Then write a similar paragraph of 70–90 words about your own well-being. Do not copy Irmak's sentences. (20 pts)

My Well-Being Plan — by Irmak

I usually walk to school with my neighbour, and I drink plenty of water every day. In winter, I sometimes get a sore throat, so I wear a warm scarf and drink hot tea with lemon. For me, a walk in the park is more relaxing than a computer game. Next Saturday, I'm meeting my cousins at the sports centre, and we're playing volleyball together. I think students should switch off their phones for one hour every evening. This small digital detox helps me feel calm and less tired.

In your paragraph, include:

- one healthy habit you have
- one health problem you sometimes have and what you do about it
- one comparison between two activities
- one plan for next week or next weekend
- one piece of advice for students
